The Houston retreat is already half full so if you want to participate, sign up soon. For information and registration, go to <http://www.houstonpolycay.org/2007retreatdetails.htm>

Beads of Courage:

This is a bead program for children with cancer. It's not just polymer clay beads but pc beads are accepted. Linda Reed shared a little about the program from an article she'd read in a bead magazine. The Board has discussed this program previously and it was determined that we wouldn't participate as a guild. Members can participate on an individual basis. If you would like further information, go to <http://www.beadsofcourage.net/>

Bring and Brag:

Ruphia brought a tiny fairy she'd made.

Jean Ann shared a necklace she'd made with Natasha beads (last month's demo).

Teri Mendez showed us a Santa ornament she'd made from Elizabeth's class and a baby sculpture that she's working on.

Judi told us about a PMC class that she'll be teaching. If you're interested, contact her at crafterjudi@yahoo.com

Program:

We had an exciting triple-demo program with three fabulous teachers (Patti Barnes, Linda Kirk and Judi Weers) showing us how to make three separate types of holiday ornaments.
